

SYSTIME and Q Software Global Limited announce world-wide alliance partnership agreement.

SYSTIME and Q Software have teamed up to provide security and compliance solutions on a world-wide basis to JD Edwards customers.

San Francisco, USA and London, England – August 03, 2010 SYSTIME, the leading JD Edwards practice and Q Software, the leading supplier of security, risk management and compliance software for JD Edwards have announced their alliance partner agreement. A combination of SYSTIME's JD Edwards implementation expertise and Q Software's best-in-class security solutions enables JD Edwards customers to simplify their security while maximizing the effectiveness of their control enabling customers to reduce posting errors, fraud and total cost of ownership of their JD Edwards system. Additionally, JD Edwards users can take advantage of the joint SYSTIME and Q Software Audit service to report regularly on Segregation of Duties and Compliance issues.

“SYSTIME understands the issues, complexities and special requirements in set-up and management of JD Edwards security. We always strive to provide our customers with excellence and this is why we are excited about our partnership with Q Software. The combination of the comprehensive security solution and our deep understanding and global expertise in JD Edwards will provide JD Edwards customers the best Security, Risk Management and Compliance solutions available”, says Milind Joshi, VP of Client Services SYSTIME

Mike Ward, Managing Director of Q Software, further comments, “SYSTIME will be a world-wide full resale partner of Q Software. They were the best choice for us to partner with because they are the leading JD Edwards practice. We look forward to a long term partnership with them, working together to mitigate the risks associated with applications and data security to improve their IT Governance for JD Edwards applications”.

The software can be purchased from either SYSTIME or Q Software to simplify on-going security maintenance. The combination of Q Software security solutions and SYSTIME's global implementation services is an excellent fit for JD Edwards customers who want access to the best security and compliance software implemented by the leading JD Edwards practice.
